Collecting sea shells has become a very popular hobby in many parts of the world. It is interesting because of their bright colours and rich variety of shapes and designs.. With every tide the sea casts up new treasure at one's feet. A shell may look like a petal frozen in stone, the paw of a lion or the wing of an angel etc... Each one has once housed a living creature, a molluse.

In Sri Lanka along the South West coast there is a stretch of over a thousand miles of beautiful beach. Shells are in abundance in places like Mt. Lavinia, Beruwala, Bentota, Hikkaduwa and Galle. They can be seen in famous beach resorts of the Eastern coast. The pearl banks of Mannar is also a famous spot for oyster shells and chanks.

Shells have been used for ornaments, tools and coins. Thus they have always been priced by men.

The Donkey - G.K. Chesterton

When fishes flew and forests walked
And figs grew upon thorn,
Some moment when the moon was blood
Then surely I was born;

With monstrous head and sickening cry
And ears like errant wings,
The devil's walking parody
On all four footed things

The tattered outlaw of the earth,
Of ancient crooked will;
Stare, scourge, deride me; I am dumb,
I keep my secret still.

Fools! For I also had my hour;
One far fierce hour and sweet;
There was a shout about my ears;
And palms before my feet.

Read the following text and answer the questions given below it.

When I went to Argentina four years ago, I noticed that every tree-stump in the pampas was decorated with a strange earthenware construction about the size and shape of a football. At first I thought they were termite nests, for they were very similar to common feature of the landscape in West Africa. When I saw perched, on top of one of them, a small fat and round bird about the size of a robin with a rusty red back and grey front, I realized they were the nests of the oven-birds.

As soon as I found an unoccupied nest, I carefully cut it in half and was amazed at the skill with which it had been built. We mud had been mixed with tiny fragments of dried grass, roots and hair to make it strong. The sides of the nest were approximately an inch and a half thick. The outside has been left crude but the inside had been smoothed to a glass-like finish. The entrance to the nest was a small arched hole. It was rather like a church door. It led into a narrow passage way that curved round the edge of the nest and eventually led into the circular nesting chamber lined with a pad of soft roots and feathers. The whole thing rather resembled a snail's shell.

How was every tree-stump in the pampas decorated?
